Of interest to Salem society will be the following from the Sunday Oregonian.

Portland is to have a horse show once more, the first in several years. This year's affair is to be under the auspices of the Portland Hunt club on the evenings of October 20 and 21 in the Ice Palace at Marshall and Twenty-first streets. Although the general opinion is that the interest in the horse is waning, yet a glance over the roads leading out of town into the valleys in the mornings is sufficient to correct this impression. Men and women enjoy their daily ride on their favorite mount some driving, and the children are growing more enthusiastic every day. This year's show undoubtedly will be one of the smartest and most interesting events of the season. It has more than ordinary interest, inasmuch as half the proceeds will be given to some philanthropic organization.

Ice skating devotees will rejoice to learn that the big Ice Palace will open about the middle of November, and the exhilarating and exciting hockey games will be resumed later in the fall.

Mrs. L. M. Vance of Sutherland, Oregon, arrived in Salem today to attend the wedding of her son, Fritz R. Vance and Miss Violet G. Cory, which will take place tomorrow night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cory.

Mrs. Vance is a guest at the Cory home.

PERSONALS

Wm. Aspinwall of Silverton is a Salem visitor.

Thos. Wallap also of Pendleton is a Salem visitor.

N. Cassimer of Portland is a guest at the Capital hotel.

G. F. Shirley, a resident of McMinnville, is spending the day in Salem.

Joseph Craig of Pendleton is staying at the Capital hotel while in the city.

Harvey Wells, state insurance commissioner, has returned from a visit to Portland.

Herman F. McInturf, recently returned from the border with Company M, was a Portland visitor Sunday.

Seba Wall of Portland, who has been visiting Mrs. Sim Swarts of this city during the fair, returned to her home Sunday.

Adjutant-General General Wilson, of the Oregon National guards, is in the city today on business at the state house. His headquarters are at Portland.

DEATH OF JOHN ENGDALH

John Engdahl died at his home in Salem Heights Sunday evening about ten o'clock after a prolonged sickness of several months. He had been failing for some weeks and his death had been expected for several days. Mr. Engdahl was a native of Sweden having been born in that country Feb. 26, 1858.

He came to the United States with his family in 1889 settling in Aberdeen, South Dakota. Fourteen years ago they moved to Salem where they have since resided. Mr. Engdahl was a tailor and ever since coming to Salem has been in the employ of the Salem Woolen Mills store. He was a man of sterling character and kindly disposition greatly beloved by all who knew him. An active member of the First Baptist church, he has served as a deacon for a number of years and also as treasurer of the benevolent funds.

The funeral service will be held at the home tomorrow, Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock, Rev. G. F. Holt officiating. The interment will be in City View cemetery.

Wayward son—But, dad, you should make allowances for the follies of youth. Dad—Huh! If it wasn't for the allowances you get there'd be less folly.

Season Tickets to the Entire Course Only . . . . . $100

On Sale at All Music Stores

Single admission will be from 75c to $1.50 each. By purchasing a season ticket one may be admitted to the entire course for the same price as the single admission. The season ticket entitles the holder to a general admission or may be reserved for the season for an extra fee of 50c to $1, according to the section of the house desired. Thus a patron may hear all six attractions for $1 or may secure the best seat in the house for not more than $2.00.

Judging from the success of the course last year and because of the added strength in the program this year, it is expected there will be an oversale in tickets. Because the seating capacity is limited all interested are urged to secure or reserve their tickets early.
